Along the Wine Routes

● A universe of colours, tastes and perfumes. A world of real, very special, ordinary people. A mosaic of enchanted landscapes as a great glimpse of towns with ancient traditions. Friuli Venezia Giulia is all of this and more. It is a land of sharp, magical contrasts where the variety of environments and the quality of products offer endless surprises. In this context operates Movimento Turismo del Vino of Friuli Venezia Giulia, who represents around [illegible] wineries and promotes the awareness and culture of wine through the wine tourism. During the year there are many events, but the most important is Cantine Aperte. It takes place on last Sunday of May of every year, and gives the opportunity to discover, directly from producers, the secrets of the wine and the techniques of production. [illegible] guided tastings and more for the event. Tied to Cantine Aperte there are also other events: Trofeo di Golf Cantine Aperte, where best wines of the territory in combination with typical food are tasted on the golf course and Spirito di Vino, the international competition for artists between [illegible] years old. That's a new way to get closer the world of young people [illegible] the art of "drinking well". Lots of journalists and [illegible] support the initiative. ● The great event of summer is Calici di Stelle. On the occasion of the night of St. Lawrence on August the 10th, some suggestive and historical Castles and towns of the region come busy with concerts, theatrical shows and [illegible] poetry. People will be able to taste best wines and typical gastronomic products. ● The Movimento [illegible] in Italy and abroad, to develop the commercial and tourist potentialities of the partner wineries and the all region. Excellent example is Vino e Territorio, the famous convention for buyers and foreign [illegible] interested in knowing the beauties of Friuli Venezia Giulia. ● Education is a strong topic of [illegible] to improve more and more the reception of the wine tourist in Friuli Venezia Giulia. From summer 2005 the Movimento Turismo del Vino has promoted with success different courses on Best Reception in Cellar in the field of region's wine routes in line with [illegible] regional projects. The first course of Tourist Guides in the Cellar is also in phase of realization. ● All of this in cooperation and synergy with the most important Regional Institutions and Organizations in tourism. Thanks to this fruitful collaboration was born "Lungo le Strade del Vino", a practical guide and an easy instrument to discover enchanting places and exciting routes of Friuli Venezia Giulia, this "small strip of universe".

The President
Elda Felluga

The "wine routes" created by the "Movimento del Turismo del Vino" are meant to be a handy and convenient tool for a better knowledge of the D.O.C. areas of the region.

The territory considered has been divided into some main areas:

1_ The Grave in the province of Pordenone
2_ The Grave in the province of Udine
3_ The Basso Friuli and the lagoon area
4_ The Colli Orientali of Friuli
5_ The Collio
6_ Isontino and Carso

The Guide

■ After a short but meaningful description of each winery joining the "Movimento Turismo del Vino", one or more routes have been recommended for each area in order to enable the tourist to enjoy the visit according to a territorial logic. The tourist, who comes here attracted by the passion for wine, is thus provided also with the basic information about the cultural heritage of the area. ■ Notes about gastronomy, art, handicraft, natural resources and sport facilities are therefore included. ■ Hotels and restaurants, farm holidays centres and wine shops are here reported in order to make the stay easier and more profitable. In particular the icon 🔑 identifies the hotels members of the Consortium Friulalberghi, while the icon 🍴 marks the restaurants member of Friuli Vie dei Sapori, an association which promotes through many initiatives a territorial cuisine. ■ Each of the described wine routes will take one or more days and are interchangeable.

■ The wineries can be visited calling in advance the reported telephone numbers.

The Grave in the province of Pordenone

The part of the province of Pordenone in the Friuli Grave DOC zone (sky-blue colour on the left map) extends across the western part of Friuli Venezia Giulia, from the foothills of the mountains to the sea. The area is bounded by the river Tagliamento and the border with the Veneto region. Its soil is alluvial in origin, generally of the type rich in stones or gravel known as "magredi", formed over the millennia by matter deposited by the rivers Meduna, Cellina and Tagliamento. It is the pebbles ("grave"), larger near the mountains and smaller to the south near the coast, that ensure consistent climatic conditions. During the day, the stones at the foot of each vine absorb heat, which is released at night. This is important, particularly in late summer, as it encourages full ripening of the grapes. This land is ideal for viticulture and over the centuries, grapes have been grown by all the peoples who settled here. Their varied cultures have also left a significant historical and artistic heritage that complements a natural setting of exceptional beauty. Pordenone's Grave wines have their own special characteristics. The whites are fresh, fruity and elegant, whereas the reds are balanced, full-bodied and fragrant when young, becoming fuller-flavoured with age.

1 Agribenè

■ Agribenè was founded in 1967. The 150-hectare estate [illegible] vineyards and other crops in Valvasone, in the [illegible] of the Friulian Dolomites. Organic fertilisers are a cornerstone of the estate management policy. Each year, Agribenè releases about 300,000 bottles of classic Grave DOC wines.
Tasting room, museum, displays and events.

2 Bianchi Giovanni Enrico Eredi

■ The Bianchi Giovanni Enrico Eredi estate is at Prodolone, a small local village on the righthand bank of the Tagliamento. It has 20 hectares under vine out of a total estate of 100 hectares, some of which are planted with orchards. Around 12,000 bottles of excellent DOC wines are produced each year and in the cellar, which dates from the early nineteenth century, visitors can admire winemaking equipment from days of yore.
Tasting room, museum and displays.

3 Borgo delle Rose

■ Recently founded, Borgo delle Rose stands in the countryside at San Quirino, famed for having been a Templar stronghold in the early Middle Ages. The estate's vine stock is seven years old on average and the most recent plantings have a density of 5,000 vines per hectare. Yield per vine is around one and a half kilos. The modern cellar makes a representative selection of Grave DOC wines.
Tasting room, displays and events.

4 I vini di Emilio Bulfon

■ Emilio Bulfon's estate is at Valeriano, in the hill country near Spilimbergo. The cellar is noted for its unflagging commitment to the rediscovery of ancient native varieties. Visitors will find some very special, aroma-rich Friulian wines, such as Ucelut, Cividin, Cianorie and Picult Neri. The welcoming cellar is fitted with modern winemaking equipment and produces about 40,000 bottles a year.
Tasting room and events.

MOVIMENTO TURISMO DEL VINO WINERIES

5 Cantina Sociale di Rauscedo

■ The Cantina Sociale di Rauscedo was formed in 1951 by 130 growers who believed in the winemaking potential of the alluvial "Grave" soil. Currently, the Cooperative has about 450 members, whose vines extend over a total of 600 hectares. Production is split between about 60% white wines and 40% reds.
Tasting room, displays and events.

6 Castelcosa Azienda Vitivinicola Franco Furlan

■ The winery is based at the Castello di Cosa, named after the village where the castle was built around the year AD 1000. Today Castelcosa, which has a vinification cellar and a barrel maturation cellar, has also taken steps to promote hospitality and holidays at the winery, adding guest accommodation, tasting rooms and spacious rooms for dinners, conferences, displays and concerts. There is also ample parking and a long-established garden. Production is about 250,000 bottles each year, around 40% of which is exported.
Tasting room, accommodation and events.

7 Col Longone

■ The Col Longone winery is located in the foothills of the western Friulian Alps. The headquarters is an impressive eighteenth-century villa built on the site of a mediaeval fortress, one of whose watchtowers still survives. There are 105 hectares in total on the property and 35 are under vine. The superbly equipped cellars feature with underground areas for barrel ageing and climate-controlled storage areas for bottled wines.
Tasting room and events.

8 Fantinel

■ The Fantinel winery was founded by Mario Fantinel in 1969. Its growth has been inspired by a philosophy of absolute quality, respect for tradition and efforts to improve the taste and authenticity of every wine released. The 250 hectares of estate vineyards are located in the Grave and Collio DOC zones. The extensive Fantinel range includes prestigious, top-quality still wines, sparkling wines and grappas, which are available in the world's finest bars and restaurants.
Tasting room, accommodation, museum, displays and events.

9 Fiorutto

■ Fiorutto is committed to the rediscovery and promotion of Friuli's very special ancient local varieties, including Ucelùt, Scjaglin, Forgiarin and Piculit Neri. Every year the cellar releases a limited number of premium-quality bottles for a clientele of connoisseurs. Piculit Neri and Piculit Nero are the estate blends, vinified to yield a unique, top-quality product.

Tasting room and events.

10 Forchir

■ The Forchir winery was set up in the early twentieth century at Felettis, near Bicinicco. In 1984, the property was acquired by Gianfranco Bianchini and Enzo Deana, the present owners, who began to make premium-quality, temperate-grown wines. The aim was to fuse variety and environment, creating a synergy of soil, site, climate and variety. There are 200 hectares in production, turning out around 930,000 bottles a year.

Tasting room.

11 Friulvini

■ The Friulvini group was created in 1939 by three co-operative wineries. Currently, there are 2,000 members, who cultivate a total of 2,000 hectares under vine in the Friuli Grave DOC zone. Friulvini coordinates the harvesting and vinification of the members' fruit, carrying out the subsequent bottling, packaging and distribution of the wine. Annual production hovers around 9,000,000 bottles and the flagship wines are Friulvini's barrique-aged reds.

Tasting room and conferences.

12 La Delizia

■ In 1931, a group of 70 enthusiastic growers joined forces to make wine together, laying the foundations of what today is Viticoltori Friulani La Delizia. The company has about 1,000 members who cultivate 1,900 hectares under vine, making La Delizia one of the largest cellars in Italy. The vineyards stand on the Friulian flatlands in the Grave and Aquileia DOC zones and the La Delizia range includes the typical DOC wines of the Grave, sparkling wines and an excellent grappa.

Museum.

16 Podere del Ger

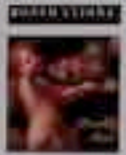
■ The Spinazzè family manages more than 30 hectares under vine at Podere del Ger with great determination and real passion. The cellar vinifies only estate-grown fruit after scrupulous bunch selection, obtaining impressive DOC wines.

Tasting room, displays and events.

17 Principi di Porcia e Brugnera

■ The estate run by the noble Principi di Porcia e Brugnera family has over 840 hectares, of which 142 are planted to vine. Vineyard management and equipment are state of the art. The main cellars are located in the mediaeval castle and the winery headquarters at Azzano Decimo, where cellar staff can call on modern vinification systems, and Slavonian and French oak barrels for ageing.

Tasting room, displays and events.



18 Ronco Cliona

■ The Ronco Cliona winery is located at Pinzano al Tagliamento, in the hill country of western Friuli. Set up in 1999 to promote a number of native Friulian grapes, Ronco Cliona has achieved its original objective by planting the vineyards around the estate headquarters with vines that make up a gene bank of endangered heritage varieties.

Tasting room.

19 San Simone

■ Owned by the Brisotto family for four generations, San Simone owes its name to a fourteenth-century chapel dedicated to Saint Simon. Cutting-edge technology enables the wine to maintain the characteristics it acquires in the vineyard. Products are top quality and, above all, utterly typical. Annual output is 798,000 bottles of still, sparkling, semi-sparkling and cask-conditioned DOC wines.

Tasting room and displays.

13 Lazzarotto

■ For almost 70 years, the Lazzarotto family has been running this estate with 25 hectares under vine in the Grave DOC zone to the south of Pordenone. Low environmental impact agriculture, drastically low yields per hectare, and special attention to the vinification and maturation of the wines in the cellar produce superb-quality products, of which the most interesting is the excellent Rosso Lazzarotto.

Tasting room, accommodation, agriturismo farm restaurant, museum and displays.

14 Le Gravette (I Magredi)

■ The steadily growing Le Gravette estate is run by Michelangelo Tombacco. Located at Domanins, in the Grave del Friuli DOC zone, it extends over more than 65 hectares of vineyards. The cellar has up-to-the-minute winemaking equipment and a welcoming retail sales outlet.

Tasting room, displays and events.

15 Plozner

■ The Plozner estate was founded in the 1960s by Livio Plozner where the Friulian flatlands meet the alluvial hills. The gravelly soil and nearby Alps help to maintain a dry climate. This ensures excellent-quality grapes, which are harvested manually and then vinified and aged in the estate's cellar.

Tasting room.

20 Steva dei Marchi

■ The Steva dei Marchi estate is entirely family run. It covers [illegible] hectares and both white and red varieties are grown to produce characterful DOC wines of very high quality. The cellar has a capacity of 1,500 hectolitres and is equipped with modern equipment, including a bottling line.

Tasting room, agriturismo farm restaurant and displays.

21 Tenuta Bosco Albano

■ Tenuta Bosco Albano lies in the southern part of the Grave DOC zone. Its 45 hectares of vineyards combine tradition with modern technology. The attractive cellars boast the finest modern equipment and are adjacent to rooms where the cool, unvarying air, and water rising from below ground, make it an ideal environment for the barrel cellar and for storing wine in bottle.

22 Tenuta Pinni

■ Between Valvasone and San Martino al Tagliamento stands Tenuta Pinni, a farm estate with a lovely mid-seventeenth-century Venetian villa. There are 17 hectares under vine and a further 55 of native woodland and arable land. The recently restructured cellar is fitted with modern fermentation equipment and a barrel cellar for barrique ageing.

Tasting room, displays and events.

23 Vigneti Le Monde

■ The long-established Vigneti Le Monde estate stands at the confluence of the Livenza and Meduna rivers. The heart of the estate is an eighteenth-century farmhouse with an ageing cellar and an ancient kitchen featuring a characteristic "fogher", or hearth. Out of the estate's total of 59 hectares, 23 are planted to vine. Half of the annual output of 200,000 bottles goes for export.

Tasting room, displays and events.

24 Vistorta

■ Tenuta Vistorta has been owned by the Brandolini family since 1780. Today, it is run by Count Brandino Brandolini d'Adda and extends over 200 hectares in the western part of Friuli Venezia Giulia. The 32 hectares under vine are planted exclusively to Merlot, whose fruit goes into one of Italy's great red wines, obtained with a combination of low yields per hectare, modern cellar management techniques and ageing in small oak barrels. The cellar is in a superb eighteenth-century "barchessa", or wing of farm buildings, and the winemaking equipment is right up to date.

Tasting room, displays and events.

The Grave in the province of Udine

The Grave (sky-blue colour on the left map) occupies a vast part of central Friuli in the flatlands of the river Tagliamento in the provinces of Udine and Pordenone. The variety of alluvial soil types in the area creates a natural divide between the upper and lower plains, where the characteristically gravelly, stony soils provide an ideal environment for viticulture.

1 Cabert Cantina di Bertiolo

■ Created in 1960 when several of Friuli's most prestigious wineries joined forces, Cabert today has around 330 hectares under vine. The cellar's excellent wines are the result of scrupulous care both in the vineyard and during vinification of the fruit.
Tasting room.

2 Castello di Arcano Superiore

■ Castello di Arcano Superiore brings together five long-established Friulian estates which have been growing fruit organically for some years. The grapes are vinified in a single modern cellar at Arcano Superiore. Located in history-soaked villas and castles, the participating estates are in especially well-favoured wine-making sites in the Friuli Grave and Colli Orientali del Friuli DOC zones.
Tasting room, displays and events.

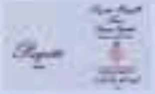
3 Ferrin Paolo

■ The Ferrin estate, founded in 1956, covers an area of about 33 hectares. Vineyard management is based on eco-compatible techniques that ensure the quality and authenticity of the cellar's wines. Today the cellar has modern equipment and stands next to a purpose-built tasting room.
Tasting room, museum, displays and events.

MOVIMENTO TURISMO DEL VINO WINERIES

4 Mangilli

■ Mangilli was founded in the nineteenth century as a premium distillery. Since 1977, the company has been involved in the wine market, applying to the new product lines the same care and quality-oriented approach that has always been the Mangilli hallmark. The modern cellar uses stainless-steel tanks to age and mature the wines, as well as larger barrels and small wood.
Tasting room and shop.



5 Pighin

■ Pighin began business in 1963 on the estate at Risano. It includes 150 hectares of vineyards in the Friuli Grave DOC zone, a well-equipped cellar and a late seventeenth-century residence now converted into a hospitality centre. The Pighin family also owns the estate of the same name comprising 30 hectares under vine at Capriva del Friuli in the Collio DOC zone.

6 Vigneti Pietro Pittaro

■ The estate has been run by the Pittaro family for 300 years. The 85 hectares under vine enable Pittaro to release a wide range of superb still wines, as well as the sparkling wines vinified in the underground part of the cellar.
Tasting room, displays, events and a museum of oenology that houses an impressive collection of glassware.

UDINE

According to the legend, Udine [illegible] on a hill built by Attila, king of the Huns, [illegible] Aquileia. Udine flourished in the Middle Ages thanks to the [illegible] position for trade and to the [illegible] right to have a market place. During the [illegible] century it passed under the dominion of the "Serenissima", and the signs are still particularly evident in the architecture of the historical centre.

Lower Friuli and the lagoon area

This area takes in the DOC zones of Friuli Annia, Friuli Aquileia and Friuli Latisana. The Friuli Annia zone (hazel-brown colour on the left map) was established in 1995. It enjoys a particularly mild climate and offers scenic countryside views, as well as the neighbouring lagoon of Marano. Vines planted on this terrain can acquire excellent aromatic intensity, especially white varieties. Friuli Aquileia (green colour on the left map), the second DOC zone, has a very ancient tradition of viticulture, amply testified by historic remains and documents. The zone has a particularly mild climate because of the influence of the sea. It is part of Lower Friuli and lies on the flatlands which have mainly alluvial, sand and clay soil. The third DOC zone, Friuli Latisana (light-blue colour on the left map), stretches across the southern part of the province of Udine and offers mineral-rich, sand and clay soil types. The minerals, and the warm breezes off the nearby sea, enable growers to produce elegant, and remarkably fragrant wines.

1 Cav. Emiro Bortolusso
Friuli Annia

■ This delightful, family-run estate is located at Carlino, in the two DOC zones of Annia and Latisana. The quality of the winery's products, from fruit grown on 50 hectares of estate-owned vineyards, is guaranteed by a policy of low environmental impact vineyard management. Manual harvesting is followed by up-to-the-minute cellar techniques, using temperature-controlled stainless steel fermentation vats and oak barrels for ageing.
Typical Products: lagoon fish, figs, friulian cheese, ham and prosciutto [illegible].

2 Filippi Lino & Federico
Friuli Annia

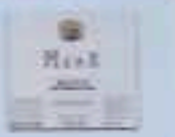
■ The winery is on the SS 14 highway that links Venice to Trieste near Zellina di San Giorgio di Nogaro. The Filippi Lino family has always been passionate about growing grapes, and obtains wines that represent the very best in Friuli's oenological tradition. The estate also offers typical products like grappa, honey, cold meats and the specialities of the Friulian kitchen.
Tasting room, events, displays, museum and agriturismo farm holiday centre.

3 Ca' Tullio
Friuli Aquileia

■ The vineyards cover an area of 100 hectares, half in Aquileia and half at Sdricca, near Manzano. The cellar is in a magnificent early twentieth-century building that was once used for drying tobacco. The land has been farmed since 1700 and grapes have been grown there since 1800. In the cellar itself, fruit from both the Colli Orientali del Friuli and Aquileia is transformed into wine.
Tasting room, museum, displays, events, typical products like Montasio cheese and "prosciutto crudo" air-dried ham, and organic products.

4 Foffani
Friuli Aquileia

■ The Foffani winery is on the family's estate at Clauiano, a medieval hamlet south west of Palmanova. Historic documents show that wine has been made here since 1789. The Foffani range foregrounds varietal characteristics and elegance, from vineyards on gravelly and sandy soil with a dry, well-ventilated site climate. Modern production and quality control techniques are employed and particular attention is paid to impact on the environment.
Tasting room, displays and events.



5 Merk di Casa Geretto
Friuli Aquileia

■ The Gerettos have been involved with wine for more than half a century. It was in the 1950s that Cav. Antonio Geretto began to make wine, more from enthusiasm than as a business enterprise. Today, Dino Geretto, his wife Carla and their children continue the tradition that has survived and renewed itself over the years, driven by the same passion that convinced Antonio to try his hand at winemaking. The Merk wines, produced at Scodovacca di Cervignano, are noteworthy for the marked bouquets of the reds and the elegance of the whites.
Tasting room and events.

Movimento Turismo del Vino Wineries

6 Tenuta Ca' Bolani
Friuli Aquileia

■ Ca' Bolani dates back to the sixteenth century, when the noble Venetian Bolani family owned the property. In 1970, the Zonin family restored it to its former glory, making Ca' Bolani one of Friuli's model wineries. The intense personality of the range comes from the gentle breezes off the nearby coast, the unique site climate and the approach to vineyard management that respects the physiological equilibrium of the vines. All this enables Ca' Bolani to harvest perfectly ripe fruit. The resulting whites are elegant and stylish, the reds outstanding.
Tasting room.

7 Villa Vitas
Friuli Aquileia

■ Villa Vitas has been working with wine and vines at Strassoldo in Lower Friuli since 1907. The initial passion has been handed down across the generations and today, the winery has ten hectares under vine. Annual production hovers around 50,000 bottles. The hands-on owner, Roberto Vitas, is in charge of every stage in production.
Tasting room and accommodation (summer season).

8 Anselmi
Friuli Latisana

■ The Anselmi estate was founded in 1937 by Ettore Anselmi and has always been a family business. Located in the Latisana DOC zone, it includes 50 hectares under vine, cultivated with a low environmental impact management policy. Respect for the land and tradition is the key to producing the premium-quality, typical Anselmi wines.
Tasting room.

9 Isola Augusta
Friuli Latisana

■ Isola Augusta lies in the Friuli Latisana DOC zone on Friuli's coastal area. The estate extends over about 70 hectares, of which 40 are planted to vine. Wine lovers can visit the cellars or enjoy a break at the stall where wines and cold snacks are available, as well as all the estate's own products, which include honey, grappa and olive oil. Purchases can be gift wrapped, if necessary.
Tasting room, rural museum, accommodation, agriturismo restaurant, displays and events.

10 Zaglia Giorgio
Friuli Latisana

■ The winery was founded in the late 1960s by Aldo Zaglia at Precenicco, in the Friuli Latisana DOC zone. Based in an early twentieth-century farmhouse, the estate has 17 hectares under vine, producing 70,000 bottles each year. The Zaglia winery has adopted low environmental impact vineyard management and is equally proud of its manual harvesting and cellar techniques, which use natural, physical methods and shun chemicals. The estate headquarters is also the location of the vinification and ageing cellars.

LIGNANO SABBIADORO

Located halfway between Venice and Trieste, Lignano has since its foundation in the 1930s always been at the cutting edge of service and infrastructure organisation. Its eight kilometres of golden sands have been transformed into one of the Upper Adriatic's leading resorts. Lignano Sabbiadoro is the centre of the original town, Lignano Pineta is the masterpiece of [illegible] architect Marcello D'Olivo, a perfect symbiosis of nature and geometry in an innovative spiral-design town plan, and Lignano Riviera is the newest development on the peninsula.
Places to visit: Church of Santa Maria (fifteenth century) with interesting fifteenth-century frescoes, originally situated at Bevazzana on the embankment of the river Tagliamento. The church was cut into sections and re-assembled at Lignano to avoid further damage by the river's periodic floods.

PALMANOVA

Palmanova is a fortified town founded by the Venetians in 1593. Its perimeter is in the shape of a nine-pointed star, symbolising the Holy Trinity. There are only three gates (Borgo Udine, Borgo Cividale and Borgo Aquileia), all leading to the town centre, where there is a broad, hexagonal public space that has recently been restored.
Places to visit: Twelfth-century Duomo, built to a plan by Vincenzo Scamozzi; Palazzo del Provveditore Generale (sixteenth century); Palazzo Trevisan (Civic History Museum); Monte di Pietà; loggia dedicated to war dead; church of San Francesco (seventeenth and eighteenth centuries).

Colli Orientali del Friuli

The Colli Orientali del Friuli (orange colour on the left map) are the hills that extend along the border of the province of Udine with Slovenia. The terraced hillside soil is made up of alternating layers of marl and sandstone. The Julian Pre-Alps protect the vines from cold northerly winds and the beneficial influence of the sea creates site climates that are particularly suited to very high quality viticulture. In the DOC area, three outstanding "crus", or subzones, have been identified at Ramandolo, Cialla and Rosazzo. Ramandolo, near Nimis, has a subzone celebrated for the production of Verduzzo di Ramandolo, a sweet wine vinified after the grapes have raisined on the vine or on rush mats. The wine is produced in very limited quantities, only in this tiny area, where recently the DOCG Ramandolo has been instituted.

1 Accordini

This long-established estate was purchased in 1890 by the Accordini family, whose heirs continue to run it. There are 11 hectares planted to vine and the traditionally managed cellar crafts a range of typical wines from the upper Colli Orientali DOC zone.
Tasting room, displays, events and "Archivio Accordini-Strassoldo" museum (with parchments and manuscripts dating from the patriarchate period through to the nineteenth century).

2 Alberice

This recently founded estate is at Corno di Rosazzo, nestling against the stretch of hills in the Bosco Romagno nature park. The property includes the 30.75 hectares under vine on marl-rich soil of volcanic origin. The favourable site climate and soil type enable Alberice to create wines of distinction. Annual production totals 130,000 bottles.
Tasting room.

3 Aquila del Torre

The Aquila del Torre winery, previously known as Podere del Sole, has belonged to the Ciani family since 1996. Situated at Savorgnano del Torre, the property covers 25 hectares in all, with ten planted to vine. Annual production hovers around 50,000 bottles. The estate has always maintained close links with the arts in Friuli as it is a focus of attention for artists, writers and journalists.
Tasting room.

4 Valentino Butussi

Founded in 1910 by Valentino Butussi, the estate is located at Corno di Rosazzo, at the foot of the Rosazzo hills, in an area with marl and sandstone soil. Varietal and territorial typicity are the hallmarks of the 70,000 bottles of wine produced each year exclusively from estate-grown grapes. DOC wines, from the Vigna di Corte vineyard next to the estate buildings, are aged in oak barrels.
Tasting room, cellar-door sales.

5 Ca di Bon

Ca di Bon has existed in its present form since 1977, continuing a family tradition of winemaking. The 9.5 hectares of vineyards are spread across three different DOC zones. Although the cellar releases a modest number of bottles, there is a wide range of labels. The well-equipped cellar is built partly below ground.
Tasting room and Osteria Ca di Bon restaurant.

MOVIMENTO TURISMO DEL VINO WINERIES

6 Cantarutti Alfieri

Now run by Antonella Cantarutti, the estate embraces 30 hectares planted to vine in the Colli Orientali DOC zone, and 18 in the Grave DOC zone. Recently, a far-reaching renovation programme has been launched, involving both vineyard management and distribution, to focus on wines targeted at the top end of the market.
Tasting room.

7 Cecchini Marco

Marco Cecchini's compact estate has eight hectares in the hill country of Faedis. In 1996, the young owner threw himself enthusiastically into winemaking, following a family tradition. Marco strives for ever-better quality as he creates his own interpretations of local and international varieties.
Tasting room, birdwatching, archaeological area.

8 Cencig

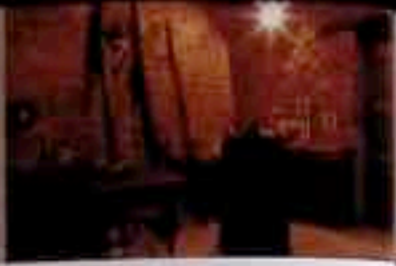
The Azienda Agricola Cencig nestles in the hills that separate Manzano from Buttrio, where it has eight hectares planted to vine on the well-positioned slopes. Scrupulous care in vineyard and cellar produce premium-quality wines that visitors can taste at the winery, accompanied by the traditional dishes of the Friulian kitchen.
Agritourism restaurant.

9 Corte Sant'Anna

Set in the heart of the Colli Orientali del Friuli, Corte Sant'Anna is a family-run estate based in an ancient castle now restored to its former glory. The seven hectares under vine are managed using eco-compatible techniques that have enabled the cellar to release superb-quality wines for the past 20 years.
Tasting room, displays and events.

10 Collavini Eugenio

Founded in 1896 by Eugenio Collavini, the estate has continued to be family run ever since. In the 1960s, Manlio Collavini acquired legend-enshrouded Villa [illegible], dating from 1560, at the foot of Corno di Rosazzo. The estate image gained further lustre in the same period when enthusiastic efforts were devoted to the production of sparkling wines and to establishing a presence in markets in Italy and abroad. The superb quality of Collavini wines has since consolidated that position.
Tasting room, events and museum.



11 Colle Villano

■ Colle Villano, in the centre of Faedis, takes its name from an ancient chapel that overlooks the vineyards. A wealth of growing experience handed down over the generations, combined with modern vinification techniques, explain the excellence of the cellar's products. Colle Villano's list includes Picolit from grapes raisined on rush mats, Tocai, Sauvignon, Chardonnay, Merlot, Cabernet Sauvignon and a barrique-aged red blend.
Tasting room.

12 Colli di Poianis

■ Set up in the 1950s by Paolo Marinig, Colli di Poianis is located in the Colli Orientali del Friuli DOC zone at Prepotto. Currently the vineyards extend over nine hectares and annual production is 22,000 bottles. The family takes a modern approach to estate management while respecting the long-standing Marinig tradition of quality winemaking.
Tasting room.

13 Colutta Giorgio

■ Giorgio Colutta's estate is based in a seventeenth-century country residence that has been refurbished to make space for a barrel cellar. The vinification cellar is fitted with modern equipment and the wines obtained are excellent. The 18 hectares of Colutta vineyards are located on the hillsides around Manzano, Buttrio and Rosazzo.
Tasting room, agriturismo accommodation, displays and events.

14 Comelli Paolino

■ Paolino Comelli's estate grows grapes on 12.5 hectares of south-facing vineyards in the Colli Orientali del Friuli DOC zone. Excellent soil types and site climates, as well as a vinification cellar with the latest in winemaking technology, and of course unstinting passion and commitment, are the secrets behind the superb quality of the Comelli range.
Tasting room and agriturismo restaurant.

15 Conte d'Attimis-Maniago

■ The estate at Sottomonte has belonged to the d'Attimis Maniago family for more than 500 years. Almost all of the 110-hectare surface is planted to vine. There is an impressive ancient underground cellar where the great d'Attimis-Maniago wines age in bottle before labelling.
Tasting room, displays, events and museum.

21 Ermacora

■ The Ermacora estate was already active as a mixed-crop farm in the early twentieth century but in 1982 it focused on viticulture. Now the experience of brothers Dario and Luciano goes into a range of premium-quality wines. Their 18 hectares are located in the superb wine country around Ipplis. The recently built cellar is equipped with modern winemaking facilities.
Tasting room and displays.

22 Livio Felluga

■ This is one of Friuli's historic wineries. Half a century ago, Livio Felluga's foresight inspired him to dedicate his winemaking experience and passion to the hill slopes of Friuli, especially in the area around Rosazzo. The Livio Felluga estate has always been quality-focused in every aspect of production, from vineyard to cellar. The 135 hectares under vine in the Colli Orientali and Collio DOC zones produce a range of prestigious wines, released under the distinctive Livio Felluga "map" label.
Tasting room, displays, events and accommodation.

23 Walter Filiputti

■ Walter Filiputti manages the historic vineyards of the abbey of Rosazzo. The estate's 23 hectares around the abbey will include 18 planted to vine. The varieties cultivated include native grapes like Pignolo, Picolit and Ribolla Gialla, wine types that were saved from extinction by the Benedictine monks who grew them here in the Middle Ages. Filiputti's vinification cellar is the most ancient in Friuli.
Tasting room, displays, events, museum and "Vino e Cibo" shop.

24 Fiore dei Liberi

■ Fiore dei Liberi was set up in 1982 with the purchase of a plot in one of the Colli Orientali zone's most important areas. Imported varieties like Chardonnay, Pinot Bianco, Cabernet Franc, Cabernet Sauvignon and Merlot are grown alongside the native vines – Tocai Friulano, Ribolla Gialla, Picolit, Verduzzo Friulano and Schioppettino – that have written the history of viticulture in Friuli.
Events and restaurant.

25 Gigante Adriano

■ The Gigante estate was founded in 1957 on the slopes of Rocca Bernarda, in the splendid setting of the Colli Orientali del Friuli. An excellent site climate, good positions and generous soil permit the production of about 60,000 bottles of excellent white and red wines every year. Several native varieties testify to Gigante's attention to safeguarding territory and tradition.
Tasting room and events.

16 Crosato Giovanni

■ The Crosato estate, near Cividale, has seven hectares under vine. Since 1975, the vineyards have been gradually restored and the production facilities renovated. The cellar, partially underground, can count on modern winemaking equipment and quality standards improve continually.
Tasting room and displays.

17 Dal Fari

■ The Dal Fari winery has 14 hectares of hillside vineyards south east of Cividale. The cellar and winemaking equipment are new and comprise part of a plan to achieve top quality through careful vineyard management and modern vinification techniques.
Tasting room, displays and events.

18 Marina Danieli

■ Marina Danieli's winery combines a commitment to new technology with respect for an ancient family tradition. Located in the Colli Orientali del Friuli, the estate includes a total of 50 hectares, of which 40 are hillside vineyards. Annual production is around 1,300 hectolitres.
Tasting room.

19 Girolamo Dorigo

■ Girolamo Dorigo founded his winery in 1966 when he purchased the vineyards of Montsclapade and Ronc di Juri in the Colli Orientali hills. He is a noted figure for having introduced into the region quality-oriented planting patterns that were previously unknown. Currently, the estate has 32 hectares under vine and releases 150,000 bottles every year. One of the stars of the Dorigo range is the dried-grape Picolit.
Tasting room.

20 Roncat Giovanni Dri

■ Over the years, this family-run winery has managed to bring out the best in an ancient and very significant wine, produced only in the tiny area of Ramandolo. In 1991, a new cellar was erected to an outstanding architectural design. Inside, visitors can enjoy Vin Arte, a small but significant gallery of modern art.
Tasting room, displays and events.

26 Guerra Albano di Dario

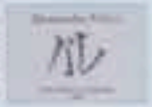
■ Dario Guerra's estate is at Montina near Cividale del Friuli, in the heart of the Colli Orientali del Friuli DOC zone. The winery was founded in 1931 and is family-run. There are seven hectares planted to vine in a territory that has always been admired as outstanding wine country. Annual production is around 40,000 bottles.
Tasting room, displays and events.

27 I Comelli

■ For many generations, the Comelli family has grown Verduzzo Friulano on the hills of Nimis, in the heart of the Colli Orientali del Friuli. The fruit goes into Ramandolo, Friuli's first DOCG wine. The Comellis' family-run estate embraces 12 hectares under vine. The harvest is entirely manual and the wine is matured skilfully in barrique, and then bottle.
Tasting room, events, agriturismo restaurant in a historic residence and accommodation.

28 Jacùss

■ The Jacùss winery started out as a small, family-run, mixed-crop farm, a very traditional arrangement in Friuli. In few years, Sandro and Andrea Iacuzzi have altered the farm's structure, concentrating on viticulture and vinifying their own grapes. The area under vine covers about ten hectares.
Tasting room, displays and museum.



29 La Lozeta

■ Since 1999, the [illegible] family has owned the La Lozeta winery at Dolegna in the Colli Orientali DOC zone. The estate comprises 3.80 hectares under vine, which produce about 15,000 bottles of wine each year. Harvesting is done by hand and the wines age in both barrique and bottle. It is interesting to note that a sixteenth-century map indicates with the place name "La Lozeta" the house where the present winery is based.
Tasting room.

30 La Roncaia

■ The La Roncaia cellar is located at Cergneu, near Nimis, very close to the estate vineyards. A successful blend of traditional techniques with modern technology produces premium-quality wines. The fruit ferments at controlled temperatures in vats of French oak, macerating extensively before the wine matures in barrique. Its body and structure are enhanced thanks to the contribution of the oak.
Tasting room, displays, events and museum.

31 La Tunella

■ The Livio Zorzettig winery, today renamed La Tunella, has achieved success through the passion that inspires life and work in the estate's vineyard and cellar. The renewed programme launched in recent years aims to achieve characterful, premium-quality wines that perfectly reflect varietal typicity and tradition.

Tasting room, displays, events and museum.

32 La Viarte

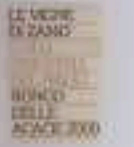
■ La Viarte, which takes its name from the Friulian word for spring, is a family-run estate of 35 hectares, of which 23.5 are planted to vine. The remainder has been quite deliberately left as woodland. The vines stand on the typical marl and sandstone [illegible] of the [illegible] natural park. The recently acquired hectares will enable the cellar to extend its range of native varieties and release products of distinctive character and remarkable personality.

Tasting room and displays.

33 Le Due Terri

■ Le Due Terri is at Prepotto and [illegible], at a point where three DOC zones meet. The [illegible] family, which has been tending vines for generations, set up the winery in 1990. The 4.50 hectares under vine are managed in eco-compatible [illegible] and annual production is 15,000 bottles. Whites are the cellar's strong suit.

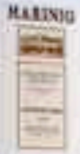
Tasting room, agriturismo restaurant.



34 Le Vigne di Zamò

■ The Zamò family's involvement with winemaking dates from 1978, when Tullio Zamò purchased five hectares of vines on the Rocca Bernarda hills in the municipality of Premariacco. Since then, a love of the land and of winemaking has expanded the Zamò estate to 50 hectares under vine on the three loveliest hills in the Colli Orientali: Rosazzo, Rocca Bernarda and Ronchi di Buttrio. The key to the Zamò winemaking philosophy is absolute respect for nature's laws and time horizons, an approach that comes through in the estate's products. Visitors to Rosazzo who pass between the vines to the visitors' welcoming tasting room will be able to note the difference between the [illegible] outside world and another that prefers to walk.

Tasting room.



35 Marinig

■ The family-run Marinig winery was founded in 1921. Today, Valerio is committed to viticulture, the task his father and grandfather pursued on a property that has six hectares under vine. The cellar was restructured in 1992 and, in line with the ancient local tradition, comprises a vinification cellar that is separate from the maturation areas.

Tasting room, displays and events.

36 Midolini

■ The Midolini estate sprawls over 100 hectares on the hill slopes between Manzano and Buttrio, with 40 hectares planted to vine. In addition to premium-quality wines, Midolini has a special workshop to produce Asperum, a balsamic condiment obtained by a special method that involves ageing in small wooden barrels to give the product its inimitable flavour.

Tasting room, displays and events.

37 Perusini

■ For seven generations, Perusinis have been making premium wines on plots whose positions and site climates are some of the finest in the region. At Gramogliano, where there are 14 hectares under vine, visitors can inspect the vinification cellar, underground barrique cellar and the unusual Terre [illegible] developed in an experimental project with the University of Verona. The estate headquarters, a seventeenth-century villa, has a tasting room.

Agriturismo restaurant and events. Accommodation coming soon.

38 Petrucco

■ Paolo and Lina Petrucco's winery is at Buttrio in Monte. The 23 hectares of vineyard are all located on hillsides in a spontaneous natural environment with plenty of sunlight. The excellent Petrucco wines are obtained from fruit grown according to vineyard management criteria that fully respect this marvellous wine country setting.

Tasting room and events.

39 Rieppi

■ Rieppi, one of the most important wineries in the Colli Orientali, has been active since the early twentieth century. Today, it has re-invented itself thanks to the latest winemaking technology while maintaining its original professionalism and passion. All of this, plus severe pruning and careful selection of the fruit from its five hectares under vine, enables the cellar to release excellent DOC wines. The cellar is in the working area of the main residence.

Tasting room, museum, displays and events.

40 Rocca Bernarda

■ An intimately prestigious estate, set in superb wine country, Rocca Bernarda lies in the shadow of the hill where the winery's sixteenth-century villa-cum-castle so dramatically stands. Having once belonged to the Perusini family, who presented Rocca Bernarda as the homeland of Picolit, the winery today is the property of the Sovereign Military Order of Malta.

Tasting room, displays and events.

41 Rodaro

■ The Rodaro winery is at Spessa, near Cividale. Its vineyards extend across the slopes of the nearby Bosco Romagno. Good technical skill and tenacity have enabled Rodaro to produce a range of wines that improves steadily each year. The lovely eighteenth-century residence, [illegible] frescoed by the Friulian [illegible] artist, [illegible].

Tasting room, displays and events.

42 Ronco dei Pini

■ Ronco dei Pini at Prepotto, in the Colli Orientali del Friuli, has belonged to the Novello family since 1968. The total area under vine is 14.50 hectares, and production each year amounts to roughly 100,000 bottles. The strong suits at Ronco dei Pini are manual harvesting and low yields per hectare, both synonymous with high quality.

43 Ronco delle Betulle

■ Ronco delle Betulle covers 15 hectares of hillside at Rosazzo. It is here that Ivana Adami carries on the work her father began in 1967, emphasizing the eco-compatible management of the vineyards, where the crucial tasks are performed manually. The watchword during winemaking is typicity, the hallmark of Ronco delle Betulle wines.

44 Ronco di Gramogliano

■ Backed by a long tradition of viticulture, Ronco di Gramogliano uses modern technology to release premium-quality wines made with fruit from the estate's 11 hectares under vine, all around the winery building.

Tasting room.

45 Scubla

■ Roberto Scubla's winery was set up in 1991 in a historic building. It stands on a hillside along the road that leads from Ipplis up to Rocca Bernarda. Inside, the ambient temperature in the underground cellar is ideal for ageing wines in barrique or tonneaux. Among the range we find wines like Scuro as well as the dried-grape Passito Graticcio and the Bianco Pomèdes white blend.

Tasting room and events.

46 Teresa Raiz

■ A winery with a solid tradition, Teresa Raiz is committed to perfecting cutting-edge technology for winemaking while respecting the ancient and noble principles that inform the art of vinification. The estate's properties are scattered around Friuli's finest wine zones, enabling the cellar to release a generous range of Friuli quality wines.

Tasting room.

47 Valchiarò

■ In 1991, four friends who shared a passion for winemaking set up Valchiarò. The estate is in the hills to the north of Cividale and the winery features both winemaking facilities and an underground barrique cellar. The excellent Valchiarò range can be sampled in the estate's tasting facilities.

Tasting room.

48 Valle

■ This Buttrio estate was founded by Luigi Valle in 1934 and today is run by his children Paolo, Marco and Rosa. The cellar blends traditional oenological skills with modern technology. The Valle vineyards, at Rosazzo in the Colli Orientali and Buttrio in the Collio, produce wines with [illegible] aromas and plenty of body.

Tasting room, displays, events and museum.

49 Vigne Fantin Noda'r

■ This winery in the hills of Premariacco has a fine, well-equipped cellar that vinifies only carefully selected grapes. The vineyards have been planted according to the most up-to-date [illegible] techniques.

Tasting room, agriturismo restaurant and accommodation, displays and events.

50 Volpe Pasini

■ This historic estate was created in 1596 by the union of two families, the Volpes, farmers from Friuli, and the Pasinis, Venetian traders. The estate extends over 26 hectares under vine and includes both a residence and the impressive seventeenth-century cellar. The current owner has restored the complex, fully respecting the original architecture. The cellar has also been fitted with state-of-the-art technology to achieve the finest results from vinification and ensure products of absolute value.

Tasting room, agriturismo restaurant and accommodation, displays, events and museum.

CIVIDALE

Dorigo 16
Dal Fari 17

Founded by the Romans between 56 and 50 BC, then awarded the status of municipium as Forum Iulii by Julius Caesar, Cividale was conquered in AD 568 by Alboin's Lombards and became capital of the first duchy of the Lombard kingdom in Italy. The town was the seat of the Patriarch of Aquileia and from 1420 passed, like most of Friuli, to the Most Serene Republic of Venice. There are many surviving works of art relating to the historic events and different cultures that succeeded each other in this corner of eastern Friuli.

Places to visit: Palazzo dei Provveditori Veneti (sixteenth century), whose design is attributed to Andrea Palladio; duomo (fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth centuries); Lombard temple (c. AD 750) with outstanding eighth-century stuccoes and frescoes; Celtic hypogeum (c. 700 BC); monastery church of San Francesco (1300); church of San Biagio; Palazzo Comunale; Devil's Bridge (fifteenth century); palazzo in Borgo Brossana, the house known as "Paul the Deacon's" (fourteenth century); Palazzo Stringher ([illegible]); [illegible] (fourth to eighteenth centuries); numerous Roman remains.
Nearby: On a high hill at Castelmonte, there is a traditional settlement with a monastery and sanctuary of the Virgin, an ancient place of pilgrimage mentioned as early as the twelfth century.

Collio

The Collio (yellow colour on the left map) is name given to the attractive range of hills in the northern part of the province of Gorizia. The territory is superb terrain for growing premium-quality grapes. Skirting the border with Slovenia, the Collio runs almost without a break from east to west, its gentle slopes presenting extensive south-facing positions. The climate is particularly mild and temperate. The nearby the Julian Pre-Alps provide shelter from cold winds and the proximity of the Adriatic Sea helps to limit the range of temperatures. Collio soil is made up of alternate layers of marl and sandstone. Since ancient times, these environmental factors have encouraged viticulture in this small, hilly corner of Friuli Venezia Giulia. Pride of place among Collio wines goes to the superlatively fragrant whites.

1 Borgo Conventi

Founded in 1975, Borgo Conventi has 42 hectares planted to vine. Each year, it releases 480,000 bottles, which are exported all round the world. The cellar was built in the 1990s in the area known as Colombara. The premises were created by converting an existing farmhouse and adding new buildings. Now, the new winery flaunts modern winemaking equipment and has an underground barrique cellar for ageing its red wines.
Tasting room.

2 Ca' Ronesca

From the vineyards of Ca' Ronesca – 56 hectares in the Collio and Colli Orientali DOC zones – the eye sweeps from the Adriatic to the Alps. Ca' Ronesca, set among the plum and cherry woods of Lonzano, was founded by Sergio Comunello in 1972. Today, state-of-the-art vineyard management techniques are combined with scrupulous vinification methods to produce more than 300,000 bottles of premium-quality wine.

3 Caccese Paolo

The winery was set up in 1934 by the current owner's father, an enthusiastic winemaker. The original three hectares have now become seven, all on the south-facing slope of the hill at Pradis. Paolo Caccese's wines are superb examples of classic Collio DOC zone products. The winery itself has a surface area of 100 square metres and modern equipment. Annual production is around 30,000 bottles.
Tasting room and events.

4 Cantina Produttori di Cormòns

This is the largest cooperative winery in the province of Gorizia. It numbers 200 members who cultivate a total area under vine of 400 hectares. Some 80% of the vine stock is managed organically to yield fruit that is harvested strictly by hand. Each year, the winery releases 2,200,000 bottles of DOC wines, as well as grappas, other spirits and sparkling wines. One flagship product is the intriguing "Vino della Pace", or Peace Wine, obtained from the "Vigna del Mondo" vineyard planted at the winery in [illegible].
Tasting room, agritourism restaurant, museum, displays and events.

Movimento Turismo del Vino Wineries

5 Castello di Spessa

The Castello di Spessa estate covers 60 hectares on the hills at Capriva (30 under vine), a marvellous castle, restructured in 2002, and over 25 hectares of well-established parkland. The three-level cellars are in the basement of the castle, most of which has been converted into a superb hospitality centre. This impressive winery produces premium-quality bottles, thanks to conscientious vineyard management and the constant temperature and total dark in the ancient cellars, where the wines can mature unhurriedly.
Tasting room, agritourism restaurant and guest accommodation, displays and events.

6 Collarig Sergio

The Collarig cellar has been making premium-quality wines at Ruttars for half a century. In the early 1990s, the cellar was renovated and laid out on two floors. The ground floor is the ageing cellar while the upper floor houses the [illegible], sales area and tasting room. Built in 1991, the winery has a capacity of 500 hectolitres and a surface area of 380 square metres. Each year, Collarig releases 30,000 bottles.
Tasting room, displays, agritourism restaurant, typical products: "[illegible]", [illegible] ham, salame, cheeses.

7 Conti Attems

The estate, near Lucinico, extends over 75 hectares, of which 32 are currently planted to vine. Backed by centuries-long experience in winemaking, the Attems family has decided to protect the environment and promote the quality of the estate's wines with their distinctively fresh aromas and elegant flavours. Recently, the family has struck an alliance with one of the great wine dynasties, the Marchesi de' Frescobaldi, with the aim of producing the great Collio wines and distributing them through the same network of the leading Tuscan producer and négociant.
Tasting room.

[illegible]

8 Draga

■ Milan Miklus and his family run this small but representative Collio winery. Milan has nine hectares under vine in the Slovenian territory of San Floriano, in the district known as Draga. This is superb terrain for making white wines with crisp, intense, yet delicately fruity aromas, and it is in this tradition that the Miklus family makes its wines, taking scrupulous care in both vineyard and cellar.

Tasting room, museum and typical products such as cherries and other fruit in season.

[illegible]

9 Marco Felluga

■ The winery was founded in [illegible] by family patriarch Marco Felluga. The current owner, who has the same name, carries on the generations-long family traditions of love for winemaking and the land, and a firm commitment to quality. Situated at Gradisca d'Isonzo, the estate covers a total of 120 hectares. The annual production of 670,000 bottles is exported all over the world.

Tasting room.

[illegible]

10 Fiegl

■ The Fiegl estate is family run and focused very much on wine. It is at Oslavia, a village on the gentle hills to the north of Gorizia. Since 1782, the 30-hectare (23 under vine) estate has achieved outstanding results in vinification, maintaining a tradition of authenticity while conserving its long-standing respect for nature and the local wine heritage. Annual production is around 120,000 bottles.

Tasting room and typical products, including honey.

[illegible]

11 Gradnik Eredi

■ The Gradnik estate has a tradition of viticulture that goes back to 1870, but it is only since 1965 that winemaking has been a major activity. Located at Plessiva in 25 hectares that straddle Italy and Slovenia, the estate has 12 hectares under vine. The wines are true classics of the zone and are made in the finest traditions of the Collio. The underground cellar was built in 1725 and is still a superb place to enjoy the excellent Gradnik wines.

Tasting room, displays and events.

[illegible]

12 Livon

■ The Livon story began in the early 1960s, when Dorino Livon acquired his first plot on the Collio hillsides. The business grew steadily and now has a state winery equipped with state-of-the-art winemaking apparatus. Livon also carries out systematic analysis of soil types and site climates before planting new vineyards. Today, there are five Livon wineries in Friuli, with a total of 220 hectares under vine. Annual production is around 900,000 bottles.

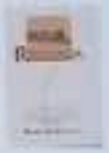
Tasting room, agritourism restaurant and typical products, including extra virgin olive oil and balsamic vinegar for estate use only.

[illegible]

13 Primosic

■ The Primosic estate was founded in the nineteenth century and bottled its first vintage in 1956. The winery's recent history saw the construction of the new cellar and current headquarters in 1975, then quality selection was implemented in 1985. The results can be tasted in the wines that embody the Primosic principles, Klin and Gmajne. The names are taken from the local oral tradition and refer to the vineyards and land where Primosic grapes grow.

Tasting room and events.



[illegible]

14 Roncada

■ The Roncada winery was created in the early twentieth century and belongs to the Mattioni family from Cormòns. The estate has a splendid position, building round an impressive country residence and cellar. The estate's 45 hectares include 24 under vine, which yield an annual output of about 200,000 bottles, and the wide range of wines features a fine spumante. The traditional cellar has modern equipment for the vinification and maturation of the estate's wines.

Tasting room.

[illegible]

15 Russiz Superiore

■ Russiz Superiore, which belongs to the Marco Felluga family, spreads over the heart of the Collio in a quite superb natural setting. The 50 hectares under vine yield wonderful wines. Russiz Superiore employs cutting-edge vineyard and cellar technology but never loses sight of tradition, and the underground cellar is one of the region's finest, in terms of both architecture and technology.

Tasting room, displays and events.

[illegible]

16 Schiopetto

■ Mario Schiopetto was one of the fathers of modern Friulian winemaking, and managed to take his estate to the very pinnacle of premium production. Recently, the winery acquired a new technically advanced cellar designed to criteria of rationality and functionality, to back up the exemplary Schiopetto vineyards. There are [illegible] hectares on the Schiopetto estate at Capriva and Rosazzo. The [illegible] under vine yield about 250,000 bottles each year.

Tasting room.

[illegible]

17 Tenuta Villanova

■ Founded 500 years ago, Tenuta Villanova is located at Farra, in the Friuli Isonzo DOC zone. The cellar is flanked by a distillery that is unique in Friuli. A system of discontinuous pot stills is used to produce grappas and [illegible] of the grape varieties that go into their making. History and innovation come together to give birth to premium products, including Collio and Isonzo DOC wines, grappas, grape spirits and sparkling wines.

Tasting room and events.

[illegible]

18 Venica & Venica

■ Venica & Venica, a family winery founded in 1930, is at Dolegna del Collio. The estate lies on four hillsides and totals 30 hectares under vine. The Venicas have a profound sense of place and are committed to promoting their heritage by ongoing research and innovation. The diverse Collio site climates and unique vineyard ecosystems emerge in Venica & Venica wines.

Tasting room, accommodation, displays and events.

[illegible]

19 Villa Martina

■ The [illegible] family owns the Villa Martina estate at Brazzano, Cormòns, with laudable commitment. Production is small-scale, for the winery owns and manages ten hectares divided into two lots, both very near to the cellar. The wines are made in the traditional style to bring out the typicity of the Collio DOC zone and the cellar is open all year round for tastings and direct sales.

Tasting room.

[illegible]

20 Villa Russiz

■ Villa Russiz was founded in 1868 by the French count Théodore de La Tour and was one of the first wineries in Friuli to introduce new vine varieties from France. Today Villa Russiz is owned by the Adele Cerruti charitable institute, and managed by Gianni Menotti. The vineyards are impeccable and the historic cellar, a jewel of technology, turns out about 200,000 bottles of superb wine every year. The estate also includes a long-established park and on the hillside nearby stands the De La Tour chapel.

Tasting room, displays and events.

[illegible]

21 Vinnaioli Jermann

■ Silvio Jermann's winery is one of the most representative you could find in Friuli. In 1881, the Jermann family came from Austria and settled at Villanova, near Farra, first as tenant farmers then as owners, devoting their energies to winemaking. The cellars and vineyards are scrupulously managed down to the last detail, and the wines, especially the whites, are fragrant, refreshing, beautifully balanced and always outstanding.

Connoisseurs will need no introduction to Vintage Tunina, the Jermann blended wine regarded by many as Italy's finest white.

Isontino and Carso

The Isontino (violet on the left map) is the strip of territory crossed by the clear waters of the river Isonzo, which flows in much of the province of Gorizia. The Isontino is bounded to the north west by the rolling hills of the Collio, to the east by the last elevations of the Carso, or karstic plateau, to the west by the river Judrio, which is also the border with the province of Udine, and extends south to the Adriatic Sea at Grado and its lagoon. It is a flatland area of lovely countryside, remains from an ancient past and a matchless heritage of fine food and wines, created by the encounters of different peoples and cultures over the centuries. The characteristic alluvial soil and privileged site climate, which benefit from the nearby sea, form an ideal setting for viticulture, privileging white varieties in particular.

The Carso (pink on the left map) is an immense limestone plateau that emerged from the sea 30 million years ago. It lies mainly in the province of Trieste, but a small part extends into the province of Gorizia. The Carso is a unique area from the naturalist's point of view, being dry, rugged and swept by the "Bora" gales. Every corner that is cultivated has been wrested from a harsh, but not inhospitable, nature. Vines have been grown here for centuries, and acquire a distinctive personality from their environment. Small plots stand on flat or gently sloping ground, called "doline", while the steep vineyard slopes above the seashore have terraces, known locally as "pastini". Carso wines have characteristics that are very much their own. The reds have great personality and a distinctive, rather astringent, flavour while the whites are fruit-rich and faintly aromatic.

1 Blason

Friuli Isonzo

■ The Blason winery was set up in the 1970s by Augusto Blason and his wife, Maria. Augusto continues to tend his vines with all his initial passion, but today he has been joined by his son Giovanni, a young and very competent oenologist, who has brought further innovation to the estate. Currently, Blason has 55 hectares in all, of which 23 are planted to vine.
Tasting room.

2 La Bellanotte

Friuli Isonzo

■ In 1980, Tuscan-born Giuliana Guadagni was given the La Bellanotte estate. In a few short years, she managed to restore the property to its former glory, bringing annual production to about 25,000 bottles. The property, which dates back to the seventeenth century, is found in a historic home at Farra, in the Collio and Isonzo DOC zones. The name "La Bellanotte" (Beautiful Night) was coined by a former owner, who lost the estate, and won it back again, in the course of a single night's gambling.
Tasting room.

3 Lis Neris

Friuli Isonzo

■ Lis Neris has 60 hectares of cultivated vineyards in the heart of Friuli's most prestigious wine country in the municipality of San Lorenzo. The climate encourages slow ripening, making the grapes firmer with a better balance of aromas and greater richness of flavour. Alvaro Pecorari, a fourth-generation member of a family that settled at San Lorenzo in the late nineteenth century, has radically renewed vineyard management, cellar organisation and ageing techniques. The cellar has a total surface area of 3,800 square metres, two thirds of which is below ground.

4 Lorenzon

Friuli Isonzo

■ Enzo Lorenzon's winery began business in the 1930s and today has 300 hectares under vine. In 1986, Enzo acquired a further two hectares of apple orchard. The Lorenzon estate releases wines under two different labels: I Feudi di Romans and Borgo dei Vassalli. The cellar, built during the 1960s, is one of the most technologically advanced in the region.

5 Luisa Eddi

Friuli Isonzo

■ The estate, located at Corona, comprises 55 hectares of garden-like vineyards, where varietal conversion is carried out slowly, year by year, with the introduction of new training systems and selected clones. The new cellar has stainless steel tanks and oak ageing barrels. Despite its modern, technological atmosphere, it manages to be friendly and welcoming. Luisa wines reveal great finesse and a resolute sense of place.

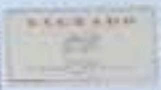
6 Tenuta di Blasig

Friuli Isonzo

■ Tenuta di Blasig lies on a part of the Isonzo flatlands that is protected by the high Carso plateau and enjoys the beneficial effects of the nearby sea. Villa Blasig, in the centre of Ronchi, was built in the early eighteenth century. It is the family home, the estate headquarters and the location of the lovely cellars. In the past, Villa Blasig has welcomed illustrious guests, such as writer Gabriele D'Annunzio. Its wines are scrupulously well-made. Efficient equipment and management in vineyard and cellar achieve an annual production of 50,000-70,000 bottles.
Tasting room, displays and events.



7 Castelvecchio

Carso

■ The Castelvecchio winery enjoys a delightful location on the Carso plateau above Sagrado, in the province of Gorizia. The 40 hectares under vine produce 70% red wines, including the local classic, Terrano. The soil, rich in iron and limestone, the wind-swept position and late harvesting all contribute to the uniqueness of the products. Built in 1990, the exemplary, climate-controlled cellar has modern equipment and 420 oak barrels of varying origin and capacity.
Tasting room, displays, events and typical products, including honey and olive oil.

8 Parovel

Carso

■ Since the mid nineteenth century, the Parovel family has been making wine – and an excellent olive oil – at Caresana, on the Triestine Carso. Today the 20 hectares planted to vine yield about 40,000 bottles of wine every year. The Carso DOC wines made by Parovel are Malvasia Istriana, Bianco della Rosara, blended from native varieties, and the Sprone Rosato, or rosé grape, wine from Moscato Giallo grapes. The reds on offer include Terrano and Refosco d'Istria.

TRIESTE

Parovel 8
(San Dorligo della Valle)

The regional capital, Trieste, is set between the blue waters of its gulf and the white rocks of the Carso. Founded by the Romans, it was also the main port of the Austro-Hungarian empire. Today, the city conserves its central European atmosphere. The many neoclassical and Art Nouveau buildings in the lovely city centre, which looks onto the sea from Piazza Unità, bear witness to Trieste's past history. The cultural heritage is rich and very much alive, offering a vast range of shows, exhibitions and concerts. Trieste's unique character also comes out in the city's food and drink, and the places where it is consumed. The long-established cafés, and small "buffet" eateries where "misto caldaia" hot fare can be enjoyed, are particularly attractive. Equally interesting are the "osmize" on the nearby Carso plateau, which offer local food and wine.

Places to visit: On the hill of San Giusto the remains of the Roman basilica (second century AD), the castle (1470) and museum, the basilica of San Giusto (fourteenth century) built on the remains of a Roman propylaeum and an early Christian basilica [illegible] two thousand years of history; church of Santa Maria Maggiore (1627), with adjoining Roman theatre (second century AD); church of San Silvestro (eleventh century); Piazza Unità with the Palazzo Comunale (1877), Palazzo Modello (1870), Palazzo del Governo (1904), Palazzo Pitteri (1780), Palazzo del Lloyd Triestino, Caffè degli Specchi (1839); Piazza della Borsa with Palazzo della Borsa (1802), Palazzo del Tergesteo (1840), Teatro Verdi (1801), with Civic Theatrical Museum; Palazzo Revoltella (1852) with the Revoltella Gallery of Modern Art. Miramare castle (1856) and its lovely gardens are located on the coastal Trieste riviera.
