Jane Austen is perhaps the best known and best loved of Bath's many famous residents and visitors. She paid two long visits here towards the end of the eighteenth century and from 1801 to 1806 Bath was her home. Her intimate knowledge of the city is reflected in two of her novels, Northanger Abbey and Persuasion, which are largely set in Bath.

The city is still very much as Jane Austen knew it, preserving in its streets, public buildings and townscapes the elegant well-ordered world that she portrays so brilliantly in her novels. Now the pleasure of exploring Jane Austen's Bath can be enhanced by visiting the Jane Austen Centre in Gay Street. Here, in a Georgian town house in the heart of the city, the visitor can find out more about Bath in Jane Austen's time and the importance of Bath in her life and work.

The Centre has been created with the help and guidance of members of The Jane Austen Society.

Afterwards you can browse in our attractive shop, which offers an unrivalled selection of Jane Austen related books, cards, stationery, lace, needlepoint and specially designed gifts, many exclusive to the Centre. We also offer free Jane Austen quizzes to keep the children occupied!
